Should appear on page 20.	Film Screening Added	New Orleans—Local Culture Duration: 58 minutes Bissonet (3rd Floor) Saturday, April 11, 12:30 P.M. – 2:15 P.M. Discussion led by Jeff Weddle, Associate Producer THE OUTSIDERS OF NEW ORLEANS: LOUJON PRESS Director: Wayne Ewing Producers: Curtis Robinson and Wayne Ewing Executive Producer: Andrew Ewing From the DVD's back cover: "In the documentary The Outsiders of New Orleans: Loujon Press, Louise "Gypsy Lou" Webb, now well into her nineties, tells the story of how she and husband Jon Edgar Webb published the avant-garde literary magazine, The Outsider, from a small apartment in the French Quarter in the early 1960s. By day, Gypsy Lou sold paintings on a street corner, and by night she set the type that introduced the world to the ground breaking poet Charles Bukowski, whose work Jon Webb also chose for the first two Loujon Press books, It Catches My Heart in Its Hands and Crucifix in a Deathhand. These books are now rare collectibles, along with two others by Henry Miller, also hand-crafted and published by the Webbs. Gypsy Lou and Jon Webb's story is about their love for each other and their dream of publishing great literature. Such eccentricity emerged from the unique culture of the 1950s French Quarter where Tennessee Williams held court at the Bourbon House and Charles Bukowski came to drink with strangers while the Webbs labored in their apartment on Royal Street."
